NIH Public Access Policy: Submitting Manuscripts to PubMed Central

- Are you writing articles based upon NIH-funded research?
- Are you preparing grant applications or grant reports for NIH and in need of PMCID numbers for your published works?
- Do you need some clarification on the NIH Public Access Policy and all that needs to be done to comply?

If you answered "Yes" to any of these questions, the Library has just the cure for what ails you.

Attend this class and learn all of the practical steps for determining copyright information for currently published articles, maintaining rights for submission to PubMed Central, and the actual process of using the NIH Manuscript Submission System.
